What is this product?

Type: The Fund is domiciled in Ireland and is an open-ended investment company and qualifies as an undertaking for collective investment in transferable securities ("UCITS").

Intended Retail Investor: The Fund may be suitable for those investors wanting to achieve longer term income growth with a measure of capital enhancement from a diversified portfolio of Japanese equities and related instruments where exposure to exchange rate movements has been minimised through currency hedging with an initial subscription of €5,000.

Term: The Fund does not have a fixed term of existence or maturity period but in certain circumstances, as described in the Prospectus, the Fund may be unilaterally terminated following written notice to investors subject to compliance with the Prospectus and applicable regulation. Subject to the liquidation, dissolution and termination rights of the Board of the Company as set forth in the Prospectus, the Fund cannot be automatically terminated.

Objectives:

The Fund's primary investment objective is longer term income growth while also seeking to preserve and increase its capital value through diversified investment in a portfolio of Japanese equities and related instruments which generate a yield above the market average.

The Fund is actively managed and seeks to achieve its investment objective by investing in the equity securities of companies listed, or regularly traded on, a Japanese stock exchange. The Fund may also retain amounts in cash pending reinvestment.

The Fund is considered to be actively managed in reference to TOPIX Net Total Return Index (the "Benchmark") by virtue of the fact that it uses the Benchmark for performance comparison purposes. Certain of the Fund's securities may be components of and may have similar weightings to the Benchmark. However the Benchmark is not used to define the portfolio composition of the Fund or as a performance target and the Fund may be wholly invested in securities which are not constituents of the Benchmark.

The Investment Manager has discretion over the assets held within the Fund. Investments are selected purely on the basis of whether they meet the Investment Manager's criteria of identifying strong but undervalued Japanese equity securities with no reference to specific sectors or indices.

The Fund uses currency forward contracts to hedge the exposure of the base currency of the share class against the Yen denominated assets.

You can buy and sell shares in the Fund on each business day.

This share class aims to distribute available income every six months.

The depositary of the Fund is The Bank of New York Mellon SA/NV, Dublin Branch. ("the Depositary").

What are the risks and what could I get in return?

Risk indicator

The risk indicator assumes you keep the product for 5 years. The actual risk can vary significantly if you cash in at an early stage and you may get back less than your original investment. In addition to the market price risk, please refer to the Prospectus for further information.

If the Fund currency differs from your investment currency, you will receive payments in a different currency, so the final return you will get depends on the exchange rate between the two currencies. This risk is not considered in the indicator shown above.

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because we are not able to pay you.

We have classified this product as class 4 out of 7, which is a medium risk class. This rates the potential losses from future performance at a medium level. Poor market conditions could impact your returns.

The value of your investment may fall and you may not get back the amount you invested.

Beside the risks included in the risk indicator, other risks may affect the Fund performance. Please refer to the Company's Prospectus for further details.

The unfavourable, moderate, and favourable scenarios shown are illustrations of what you might get back using the worst, average, and best performance of the product / a suitable benchmark over the last 10 years. Markets could develop very differently in the future.

What happens if the Manager is unable to pay out?

The Manager is responsible for administration and management of the Company and does not typically hold assets of the Fund (assets that can be held by Depositary are, in line with applicable regulations, held with a Depositary in its custody network). The Manager and the Investment Manager have no obligation to pay out since the Fund's design does not contemplate any such payment being made. However, investors may suffer loss if the Company or the Depositary is unable to pay out. There is no public or private investor compensation scheme that can compensate for any losses due to the insolvency of the Company, the Manager and the Investment Manager.

These amounts depend on how much you invest, how long you hold the Fund and how well the Fund performs. The amounts shown here are illustrations based on an example investment amount and different possible investment periods:
